EL DORADO COUNTY'S ONLY DAILY NEWSPAPER

VOLUME FIFTY-ONE

PLACERVILLE, EL DORADO COUNTY, CALIFORNIA, MONDAY, JUNE 2, 1941

NUMBER 106

An old writer used to say that it helps our sense of balance and proportion to know how other people are looking at life, what they expect from it and what they find in it. For that reason she would have more lives of important men, unimportant in the sense that they have not attracted undue public notice. This is apropos of a new book by Roderick Peattie, "An Incurable Romantic" which the author at first wanted to call "The Education of an Unimportant Man."

Mr. Peattie is a scientist who has not lost his curiosity about lands beyond the horizon. As his final title indicates, the book is colored by visions of the romantic thinker. Although his eyes are often on the stars, he manages somehow to keep his feet long enough on the road of everyday living long enough to hold the interest of the reader who is looking for facts as well as fancies. He cannot write like Hemingway, he tells us, and he is not going to try to.

Roderick Peattie, brother of the naturalist Donald Culross Peattie, was born in Omaha within sight of the poor house, a location which did not condition his later earning capacity to any great extent. The first word he uttered which was not until the belated age of three was "book". He attributes this to the fact that he carried everywhere a salmon covered volume entitled "Nihilism As It Is." Because his mother was a career woman with unconventional ideas about child training, the romantic period began early for Roderick and got off to a flying start when at 17 he began to read "Songs of Vagabondia." Yet, on the whole, he didn't differ much from the average boy of his time, as he goes so far as to admit to a winking acquaintance with a black haired chorus girl in a burlesque. He did not arrive at maturity, however, until he met Margaret, who became Mrs. Peattie, and until he went to France in the first World War.

Memories of 1918 have more than a passing interest today. The boys of that time who knew nothing about war were eager to prove themselves. In their idealism they were willing to die in a joust but

COUNTY NOTES MEMORIAL DAY

Exercises At Cemetery; Weekend Travel Heavy As Summer Outing Season Opens

The formal Memorial Day observance in the community was held according to the accustomed plan, and was under the auspices of Hangtown Camp, United Spanish War Veterans.

The Friday holiday was stretched through the entire weekend surge of recreational auto travel through the county as the fishing season started and resorts and many summer homes opened for the season.

In Placerville, all public offices were closed Friday and on Saturday, by virtue of the governor's proclamation, state, county and city offices were privileged to close and all did.

Principal stores in the community were open on Saturday.

Law enforcement officials reported no major violations and police officers noted the absence of serious automobile mishaps. In Placerville the formal program opened with a procession forming at the War Veterans' Memorial Building shortly after ten o'clock Friday morning and marching about 10:30 o'clock to Union Cemetery, led by the county band.

Veterans' orders, civic and fraternal groups and the high school girls' drill team and grammar school children made up the procession.

At the cemetery exercises were conducted by T. S. Marlor as master of ceremonies with Judge George H. Thompson as speaker of the day. Sidney Price recited Lincoln's address at Gettysburg and vocal offerings were by a trio formed by Amos W. Fuller, A. S. Fox and Max Bollman.

A squad of veterans closed the exercises by firing a salute over the graves of the soldier dead. Rev. Father Kenny and the Rev. Edwin J. Castledine assisted in the service.

Upon the conclusion of the program, the procession formed again and marched to the War Veterans' Memorial Building, there disbanding.

Homemakers End 3-Day Meeting

9th Annual Event Closed Thursday Evening With Style Show, Open House

The county's ninth annual Homemaker Institute, presented Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday of last week at the Shakespeare Clubhouse, closed Thursday evening with the regular institute program, a style show and open house reception.

The Homemaker Institute is presented each year under the co-sponsorship of this newspaper and Pacific Rural Press and had Miss Pauline Edwards, homemaker editor of Pacific Rural Press, in charge.

Thursday evening's program opened with a personal visit to the institute by Katherine Kerry, home economist of the California homegrown sugar group, who spoke briefly and distributed several small bags of sugar.

Miss Edwards resumed her institute work at this point, demonstrating a company dinner featuring California Chicken Supreme. At the close of her work, the Cash Mercantile Store presented a style show which concluded with a patriotic finale and all joined in singing "God Bless America." Miss Maxine Miller played the piano accompaniment.

The usual open house period followed with cake, cookies and soda pop, the latter with the compliments of Bob Hook, of Placerville Coca Cola Bottling Works. Many of those present took advantage of the opportunity afforded to discuss their homemaking problems with Miss Edwards and to express their personal appreciation for her very interesting and very helpful demonstrations.

LEGISLATURE'S WEEK BUSY

Period May Prove One Of Most Strenuous Of Spring Session, Member States

By A. G. THURMAN
Assemblyman, Sixth District

SACRAMENTO — This week will probably be one of the most strenuous weeks of the present session of the state legislature, which incidentally is the 14th week of the spring session. Many important measures will come up for consideration including the hot cargo bill, which the Governor vetoed last week. Last Thursday the Senate, by a vote of 33 to 5 overrode the Governor's veto and by the time this column is printed the lower house will, in all probability, have taken action one way or another regarding the matter of attempting to override the veto. It takes 54 votes in the Assembly to override a veto. The measure passed the lower house a few weeks ago by a vote of 54 to 29, four votes less than the necessary vote to override the veto. And at this writing it is difficult to say whether or not 54 votes can be obtained.

Another important measure that is scheduled to be decided upon this week is the budget bill which has been held up in free conference.

For the information of my readers a free conference is composed of three senators and three assemblymen and a majority vote of the six members of the free conference will bring the measure again before the lower house for consideration. As we write these lines it appears that the second free conference committee has come to an agreement. If such is the case, the matter will be considered by the lower house this week. And here it may again run into opposition as it requires 54 votes to pass the budget.

The measure which would return the administration of relief to the various counties and which was vetoed by the governor will also be on the order of business this week. An attempt to override the veto will be made in the senate and if successful the same attempt will be made in the lower house. However, in our opinion, the necessary 54 votes in the lower house will hardly be forthcoming.

Last week several tax reduction bills were passed in the lower house, one of which would eliminate the tax on restaurant meals. It is very doubtful, however, that this bill will be approved by the upper house. Another similar measure to exempt drugs from the sales tax is under consideration.

The most important piece of legislation which was passed by both houses last week was the reapportionment bill. This measure passed the lower house several weeks ago and in the original bill, San Francisco county lost two assembly seats and Alameda county one. Two new assembly seats were given to Los Angeles county and one additional assembly district was awarded to Kern county. In the senate, however, the bill was amended giving San Francisco eight assemblymen instead of nine and no new district was given Kern County. The lower house finally accepted the amended bill and it is now on the Governor's desk.

LOCHINVAR IN RAGS

by KATHRYN CULVER

Julie Hamilton, small-town Southern girl, regrets her half-hearted engagement to Kenneth Terry. When Barry Caldwell, young Arizona rancher who has met with reverses and is hiking to New York for a radio audition, appears at her door and faints from hunger, she falls in love with him at first sight. She invites him to her birthday party. When he tells her he loves her, she confesses her love for him, and breaks her engagement to Kenneth. A little later, however, to prevent a fight between Barry and Kenneth, she desperately tells Barry she has merely been flirting with him. He is very bitter. The next morning, she goes to see him at the home of her cousin, Normandy Buford. She is unsuccessfully trying to convince him that she lied to him, when she is interrupted by Isold Fleming, trouble-making visitor from New York, who has been trying to vamp Kenneth. Isold tells Barry that Kenneth has challenged him to ride a wild, unbroken horse. Over Julie's protests, Barry takes the dare.

CHAPTER XVI

"OH, DARN Isold! Darn her!" said Julie sitting down and pounding her fists on the table, when Barry had departed with Isold. "Nombly what are we going to do?"

Normandy sighed. "What can you do with a young fool like Barry Caldwell?"

"He wants to prove he's not a coward! That's why he's doing it!" Julie wailed. "He doesn't care about the hundred dollars — he probably wouldn't take Ken's money! It's all because of what happened last night — he thinks this is his chance to even things. Oh, dear, I almost wish I had let him fight Ken—that would have been better than this!"

"Well," said Normandy, "there's no use trying to stop him this time. I'm afraid you interfered once too often last night."

Julie jumped up. "We needn't sit here, anyway! Come on, Nombly! Drive me out to the Terry stables. I want to be there when he rides!" Normandy hesitated. "All right—but I have to run down to the office for a minute. Suppose you go on home—I'll pick you up in about ten minutes."

Julie agreed, and dashed away as she hurried home, she tried to calm her fears. If she loved Barry, she told herself, she should have faith in him — should urge him to prove himself before Ken and Isold. She realized now that she had been a fool last night to protect him against his will. No man wanted a woman to protect him. Men wanted women to be proud of them. And she was proud of Barry—and of his courage in daring to ride Black Dynamite. But oh, if only he weren't half sick!

Reaching home, she found Edith still there.

"Well!" Edith greeted her. "How runs the course of true love?"

"Tough!" Julie said tersely. "Didn't you succeed in making up with your cowboy?"

"No! But that doesn't matter just now — that can wait. Something else has happened. Barry is going to ride Black Dynamite!"

"Wh-a-a-t!"

Julie nodded. "Isold—the fiend!—egged him into it. She and Kenneth. I haven't time to tell you about it now. Nombly is coming by to pick me up. You'd better come along!"

"I certainly will!" exclaimed Edith, leaping up excitedly.

Ten minutes later, they were in Normandy's car, speeding out a country road toward the farm where the Terry horses were stabled.

Julie let her head lie back, and closed her eyes. She must keep up her courage—must make herself believe that everything was going to be all right. She heard Edith excitedly asking questions—heard Nombly tersely describing the scene with Isold a little earlier.

Then, she felt the car slowing down — heard Normandy say, "There they are! They've got Black Dynamite in the paddock."

Julie opened her eyes and saw up Normandy was braking down the car to a standstill before the Terry stables.

AT ONE side of the stable, was a paddock, enclosed by a stout-railed fence. Isold and Kenneth were perched on the top rail looking interestedly down at a magnificent black stallion who circled the interior restlessly.

As Julie, Edith and Normandy approached the paddock, Barry and a Negro groom came from the saddle-house. The Negro carried a heavy saddle and blanket. Barry leading the way was shaking a loop into a lariat.

Normandy helped Julie and Edith up on the railing, then climbed up beside them.

Kenneth didn't look at Julie. He seemed nervous and ill at ease. Julie got the impression that he was a little bit ashamed of himself.

As Barry slid between the rails and stood alone in the paddock with the dangerous black horse, a fierce pride welled up in Julie. He seemed so absolutely at ease and unafraid as he moved slowly forward, trailing the lariat's loop in the dust behind him.

The stallion whirled to face the intruder, his ears going back and his eyes rolling angrily. He reared with a shrill neigh of rage, and charged the dunny challenger.

Julie bit back a moan as Barry stood his ground, then clapped her hands excitedly as he sidestepped just in time and flipped the noose forward with a motion of his wrist that tightened it about the outlaw's forelegs.

As Black Dynamite's own charge carried him off his feet, Barry leaped forward and knotted a rope into a rude hackamore on the animal's head. In a moment, a noose on one front fetlock was tied around the outlaw's withers so that he could only stagger about on three legs.

FRITZ KREISLER SLOWLY RECOVERING FROM SKULL FRACTURE

LOS ANGELES — (UP)—Bowlers from the east and middle west held their leads tightly today in nearly all divisions of play at the Women's International Bowling Congress.

Only in the open team and the booster divisions were west coast bowlers among the leaders. The Biltmore Hotel team of Los Angeles yesterday rolled 2248 to step into second place in the booster division, with Mildred Kramer leading with scores of 161-146-187-494.

NEW YORK — (UP)—Fritz Kreisler, the violinist, is gradually recovering from the skull fracture he suffered when an automobile struck him April 26 and music still is "the mistress of his entire life," his wife said today. Kreisler, 66, was unconscious several days after the accident and did not pass the crisis until May 23. Mrs. Kreisler said he would be in the hospital "some time yet," but that he was on the slow road to recovery, that he was going through the "headache period" and was able to sit up five minutes a day.

LOTUS NEWS NOTES

On Thursday morning of last week the writer in company with C. W. Delamater and Mrs. Olive Thayer at the wheel took a ride up near Mosquito and called on Frank Andre.

Mrs. Margaret Frandsen left San Francisco at 6 a. m. Saturday coming to Placerville on the Greyhound bus, arriving at 10:40 a. m. where she met Mrs. Frank Oulicky of the Webber Creek district who brought her out to Lotus at noon where she spent the weekend visiting with Judge Rasmussen and his sister, old-time friends. It has been some four years since the lady visited Lotus. Mrs. Frandsen returned home Monday afternoon by bus from Placerville.

Since our last writing the weather has been plenty cloudy, the warmest day for the season was on Wednesday last when the mercury hit the 94 degree mark during the noon hours.

Our ditch agent, Clyde Thayer, killed a large rattlesnake while going up to the head of the ditch above Coloma the past week. The reptile had eight rattles and a button. Clyde kills a number of them every summer while looking after the ditch.

The whist card players do not want to forget to come to Odd Fellows hall in Coloma Tuesday night, June 3rd, and play at the game given by the ladies of the Rebekah lodge. Good prizes will be on hand and all will wind up the evening with nice refreshments. Come out and help the ladies along.

So far we have seen no one who will take it in hand to organize a fire department for Coloma, Gold Hill and Lotus district. Dry season is now at hand and we again request some of our lively young men of the three towns to get busy and see what can be done. Our donation of $100 still remains open and more is needed. Some five or six hundred dollars will give us a nice piece of equipment and this amount can very easily be raised by giving donations and services. Chester Vaughn an old fireman will assist in every way to help us along. Will someone please take it in hand before it is too late.

State Fruit and Vegetable Inspector Loring White drove up from San Francisco Saturday afternoon to look after his interest here and see how his mother was getting along and making a weekend visit with her. He returned back to Vacaville Monday morning where he will remain for a time inspecting the plums.

Joe Hansen has recently painted the dwelling of Loring White and his mother and made a fine job of his work. He is now doing some inside painting at the Rasmussen residence.

We regret much to state that the heavy frost on the morning of April 18 did lots of damage to the pear and apple crop in Lotus, killing it all. On the Rasmussen, Penske, White and Resdale places there is scarcely nothing. Dan M. Bassi and Walter Hargreaves badly hurt. The orchard of Albert Herzog, Sr., is somewhat hurt but he will have part of a crop. Coloma, so we learn, also Gold Hill, will have a fair crop.

Floyd Singleton, our meter reader, came out from the P. G. & E. Co. office in Placerville on Tuesday last and checked up on all those using the company meter the past month. Among those in our town the past month attending to business matters were Robert Geogline and wife, Mrs. Ruby Spoon and daughter, Mrs. Given of Coloma, Pearley Monroe and Jake, who are in Sacramento, who were in our town Sunday looking after their property interests at Coloma.

Mrs. Eleanor Levy, accompanied by her mother, Mrs. L. A. Gwaler, drove up from their home at Burlingame on Friday afternoon to visit a week with their old time friend Mrs. Jessie White of here.

We neglected to mention in our last week's news that Mr. and Mrs. Berry and Mr. and Mrs. Nelson of San Jose spent the weekend visiting with their old time friend, Mrs. Jessie White.

We much regret to learn of our old time and life-long friend, Jacob J. Miller who died at his home in Placerville last Wednesday morning at the advanced age of four and one-quarter score years. We have known Jake for years and he was sure a good and honest man. We extend our sympathy to his devoted wife also his only son, Will Miller of Gold Hill and all his other relatives.

We have been waiting with patience to see a marker of old historic Uniontown put up as promised by our secretary of the El Dorado Chamber of Commerce, Mr. Ripley nearly a year ago when we called on him at his office and gave him all the details he asked for to be put on the marker. Most every old town in the county has a marker of old time and place and we should not have one for pioneer Uniontown. Mr. Ripley, please attend to this and give us a marker—we sure are entitled to it.

Our supervisor Carl Nielson of Col was an early caller in our town Monday morning enroute to Placerville. Carl called on the writer and brought us a nice lot of cherries to eat—our first of the season. Many thanks, Carl.

Mr. and Mrs. Chester Vaughn drove up to Lake Tahoe Sunday going by way of Auburn and returning by Placerville.

Mrs. Josephine Swift of Latrobe left her home last Thursday for Denver, Colorado, where she will spend two weeks visiting with her grandchildren of Sacramento.

Mrs. Chester Vaughn took a nice ride down to Latrobe last Tuesday afternoon to attend a shower given in honor of Miss Marie Chaix who set the day of her wedding for May 30 next.

We have been a steady correspondent for the Mountain Democrat going on 17 years and are thinking about taking a month's vacation. But in some way the boss of the paper and our Editor will in some way not let us off. Anyway he will have to be patient and wait until this month's vacation is given up. How much longer it will be we cannot say.

Mrs. Alan B. Jones and children, Sherry and Stanley visited in Gridley for several days during the past week.

Mrs. Irma Lawyer attended the Premier whist party given at El Dorado Saturday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Carver and two daughters of Placerville were Sun-

Farmers are using more commercial fertilizers.

A total of 8,311,000 tons went into the soil during the past crop year. Never before have farmers bought such large amounts of fertilizers. And never before has the fertilizer contained so much actual plant food.

For instance, the national fertilizer association says that the tonnage of commercial fertilizer this year was 16 per cent more than in 1920. But the plant food contained in the fertilizer this year was 64 per cent greater than in 1920.

The federal government, incidentally, is becoming increasingly important in the fertilizer industry. Back in 1935, the government had little direct interest in the business. But now—according to the trade association—the government supplies more than five and a half per cent of the tonnage of our commercial fertilizers. The government fertilizers, you know, are distributed by the Tennessee Valley Authority and the Agricultural Adjustment Administration.

The agriculture department reports another increase in cash farm income.

During the first four months of this year, American farmers received $277,600,000 from crop marketings and government payments. This is $160,000,000 more than for the corresponding period last year.

Government payments were considerably smaller this year, but better returns from markets more than offset this decline.

During the month of April, farmers received $709,000,000. This was slightly above the figure for the preceding month, and considerably higher than April of last year.

The most cheerful note recorded during the month was increased income from livestock. On the sad side of the picture, the income from grain was disappointingly small during April.

The agriculture department was day visitors in Lotus. Roy Marks and wife of Missouri Flat were transacting business here on Friday.

The school term closed on Friday, May 23rd. A picnic was held at Marshall Monument Park where the pupils of Coloma school joined us.

The Lawyer family left bright and early Monday morning for their summer headquarters at Uncle Toms. Axel Kilander and George Hayes accompanied the folks as they will continue to board with them up there.

Mildred Huff is spending a few days this week with her grandfather, Leo Pountain.

The A. W. Morse family who have been living in the cabin belonging to H. Resdale, have moved to Drytown.

POLLOCK PINES NEWS

The Pollock Pines school ball team returned Friday of last week with the Camino school ball team's scalp, having won the game that day, 18 to 3. Principal Reese is quite proud of his team this year. And at the county track meet held at the Fair Grounds recently, our school youngsters literally ran off with several blue ribbons for first place in a number of events.

The card party held by the P. T. A. last week was as well attended as could be expected for the weather, and everyone had fun and a goodly sum was realized for the general fund. The Girl Scouts seniors had a grand idea in selling candy, and it was very good candy, greatly appreciated.

nor's desk awaiting his approval. In the reapportionment bill, the Sixth Assembly district of which El Dorado County is a part remains as it is today comprising ten counties. The second congressional district of which this area is a part also remains intact.

As soon as the budget bill is finally passed appropriation bills totaling several millions of dollars will be taken up for consideration. One of these appropriation measures in which many people are interested is the bill which would appropriate $2,000,000 for additional buildings at the University of California Medical Center. The need for a new teaching hospital is great and the ways and means committee of the lower house after hearing the bill presented by Assemblyman Gardner Johnson and several physicians, approved the bill and recommended its passage.

With so much unfinished business yet to be considered, it is hardly likely that the legislature will adjourn before June 14th.

THE SPIRIT OF

by JOHN CLINTON

Did you ever alarm shut the doors on your automobile with the keys inside the car? Me, too! Mrs. Clinton and I came out of the movies to get in the Hispano-Plymouth, last night and—off! There we were on the outside, and there were the keys inside!

Mrs. C said: "All right, John, let's see your precious Union Minute Men get us out of this one!" Well I walked down to the Union Oil station and told the boys about it. One of 'em got a long wire and came back to the car with me. He twisted the wire under the windshield, and hooked the door handle—and presto! inside!

Then, on top of that, he presented both Mrs. Clinton and me with a perfectly swell leather key-tainer that his boss had given him. Then he suggested we each carry keys to the car, and prevent future accidents!

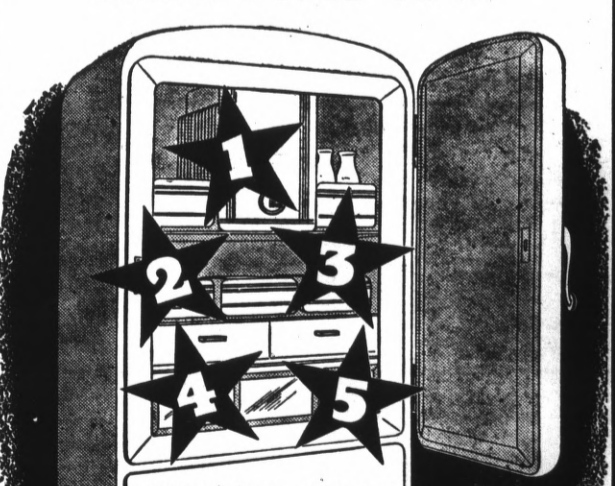

Well, that made such a hit with me that I got Uncle to let me give one of these swanky leather key-tainers to every reader of this column—free! No box-tops, no contests, no dimes, no sales slips—nuttin'!

Just address a post card to John Clinton, Room 725, Union Oil Bldg., Los Angeles, and I'll send you a leather key-tainer with love and kisses, and the compliments of the Union Minute Men.

IT'S FREE! But I'd like to suggest that you write the card now, on account last time I offered my readers a gift, we got so many requests we had to make the late folks wait. And in the meantime, when you need a friend—stop at a Union Oil Station!
